

QUESTIONS FOR YOUR
WEBSITE TERMS AND CONDITIONS
WEBSITE PRIVACY POLICY
WEBSITE DMCA COPYRIGHT POLICY

Website Terms and Conditions are important:

- Limits your liability.
- Upgrades your “social status” or SEO.
- Provides you with “damage control”
- Shows users your standards for ethical and online behaviors.
- Prohibits unlawful uses of your website.
- Protects your brand.
- Creates additional trust with your customers.

If you are interested in our special offer, you may email us at info@dodgelegal.com for more info.

Or you can start the process by filling out this form. Yes, we’ve made it that easy!

Question	Your Answer
What is the name of your company (for your website)?
What is your website domain name?
What date was/will your website be active for customers?
Will there be children under the age of 13 years on your website?
Do you intend to have website users who reside in California?
Do you plan to sell outside of the USA? If yes, have you thought about export controls; import and customs regulations; sales or value added tax; income tax; other consumer protection laws (including local language requirements, warranties, credit terms and other laws relating to online and mail order sales); insurance; intellectual property (including territorial scope of rights to all IP used on the website and protecting your own IP rights); and dispute resolution (including issues relating to choice of law and foreign jurisdiction).
Will you allow users to print or download parts of your website?
Do you have any other eligibility requirements for your website users?
Will your website require a password and/or user name?
If users have any questions about the website, what email address can they contact? (This may be info@your website name.com.

Question	Your Answer
Do you have a logo for your business on this website?
Please list your company trademarks. If you need further information about what a trademark is, click here: http://dodgelegal.com/general/protecting-your-trademarks-can-be-a-lifesaver/
Do you want to allow users to advertise (with your permission) on your website?
Will your website contain any of the following (if yes, please list in the Answer box): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • message boards • chat rooms • forums • bulletin boards • personal web or profile pages • other interactive feature
Are you selling goods, services, and/or information? Please list which of the 3 categories apply to your business.
In what state is your business website based?
If you have a business dispute, where would you want to have the dispute take place? Please list the city, county, and state.
Do you want to limit the time for a user to file a claim against you? If no, the normal laws for filing a claim would automatically apply.
What is the mailing address for your business?
If you have a toll-free number, please list here (This is not required).
What is the name of your DMCA Agent? DMCA stands for the Digital Millennium Copyright Act and prohibits copyright infringement. A designated DMCA Agent helps you avoid copyright infringement. You can be your own DMCA Agent.
What is the phone number of your DMCA Agent? This can be your toll-free number if you have one.
What is the email address of your DMCA Agent?	